ANNEXATION

Growing in Favor at Washington.

Ill Concealed Desire for More Territory.

The Sentiment Is Not Confined to Any Party.

England Protests Against the Presumed Intention of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—[Associated Press.]—There are some important developments in the Hawaiian situation. First, it is pretty clearly indicated that the administration is not in any way lukewarm in the matter as was at first supposed. Secondly, the action of the commander of the Boston against which Great Britain is about to file, or has filed formal protest, has received the official approval of the president and cabinet. The sentiment in favor of annexing is rapidly extending and several members of the cabinet have expressed themselves in favor of it. It has been reported that President Harrison is in favor of annexation. Although the course pursued by Minister Stevens in ordering the Boston's marines on shore was without explicit instruction from the government, his action is fully approved by the president. In the senate there is a distinctively American feeling on the Hawaiian question which is not confined to any party. There can be no doubt that a majority of the members of the committee on foreign relations look with favor on the establishment of American domination on the islands, and in just what shape is a matter of detail not yet considered.

Dolph, a member of the committee on foreign relations said this evening: "The United States has been waiting fifty years for this opportunity and now that it has become in such a way the problem can be solved without difficulty. I certainly see no reason why we should hesitate. The man who would oppose what is manifestly the interest of the country in this matter I think is hardly deserving of a seat in congress. I certainly favor the control of these islands by the government of the United States."

Mr. Hiscock, another member of the same committee is also in favor of annexation. "I believe," said he "this government should prevent any interference in this matter on the part of any other power. It is a matter that concerns us wholly and for one I may say I am in favor of the establishment of a territorial form of government under the flag of the United States."

Chandler's resolution will come up in the senate in the morning hour tomorrow morning unless some diversion is made. In the house there was a diversity of views on the subject of annexation. Watson of Georgia voiced the People's Party. "It is a job and nothing but a job," he said, "put up by American property owners and sugar planters in Hawaii."

The general sentiment among the members of the house seems to be that the United States should annex the Hawaiian islands now that it has been invited to do so. O'Ferrill of Virginia is opposed to the acquisition by the United States of more territory. Raynor, a member of the committee on foreign relations, said: "If the question is between the United States government and the government of Great Britain, I think we should annex the Sandwich group. Personally I favor a protectorate."

Hooker of Massachusetts, a member of the committee, expressed himself opposed to any other government than the United States having possession of the Hawaiian islands.

One member of the committee who did not like to be quoted said the only stumbling block he saw in the way was the possible action of the house, if it were swayed by the influence of certain gentlemen who controlled appropriations. It would, he thought, be a short-sighted policy to consider the cost when so much is at stake in the matter of the perpetuation of the safety of the republic and the acquirement of that which would enable the United States to compel the respect of the nations who were now friendly because it was a good policy to be friendly. In a country like the United States as he looked upon it it was of little moment whether the annexation of Hawaii involved the expenditure of thousands or millions.

England Hears of It.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The charge d'affairs of the Hawaiian legation received official news today confirming the report of the revolution. The Hawaiian representative visited Lord Salisbury at the foreign office to discuss the situation with him. Your correspondent is reliably informed that Roseberry intimated that Great Britain is not likely to intervene at the present. Roseberry also hinted that England would not be likely to annex the Hawaiian islands by the United States. A dispatch from her attorney, containing a record of the recent events.

Naval Preparations.

VALLEJO, Cal., Jan. 31.—The United States steamship Adams, now at the navy yard, has received orders to sail for Honolulu tomorrow, but will not be able to do so on account of the time required for coaling. She will probably sail on Thursday. The orders are to divide the crew of the Monterey between the Adams and Ranger to give them a full complement. This is taken to indicate that the Monterey is not going to sea. The Ranger is waiting for the propeller, now in the machine shop. The yard launch went down to the magazine to get powder this afternoon. The Ranger will probably get away in a few days.

A Protest Already.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—It is understood that Great Britain has instructed Sir Julian Pauncefote to protest against the action of the United States in the Hawaii matter and protest against annexation.

HARD TO BELIEVE.

A FLORIDA man grows four cabbage heads on one stalk.

A WHALE, recently captured in Arctic waters, was found to have embedded in its side a harpoon that belonged to a whaling vessel that had been out of service nearly half a century.

A SHARK recently washed ashore at Midian, British Columbia, had two distinct tails, three perfect eyes and what appeared to be the rudiment of a fin or flipper hanging to the under jaw.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., has a wonderful freak of nature, it is claimed, in the shape of a live calf with a bulldog's head. It is further stated that the entire head has all the formations of the bulldog.

HEZEKIAH SHEPARD, an aged and eccentric citizen of Davis county, Ia., was recently buried at Drakeville, in the same county and state, in a coffin built in exact imitation of the easy chair in which he had sat for years.

She Wouldn't Even Try.

"Don't you think you could learn to love me?" he asked, looking at her wistfully. "I'm sure I couldn't," she answered, decidedly; "I'm a perfect devotee. When I was at school I never could learn anything."—Demorest's Magazine.

WORLD GIRDERS.

Two Famous Bicyclists Arrive at Yuma.

Nearing the Close of a Two Years' Journey Around the Globe.

YUMA, Ariz., Jan. 31.—[Special.]—The event of today in Yuma has been the visit of Thos. G. Allen and W. L. Sachtleben, the famous bicyclists, who have made, or are just completing, their trip around the world on wheels. These two young men just graduating from college, left their homes in St. Louis, Mo., for a visit to Europe, in April, 1891. When once in London they decided to travel around the world on their machines. This they now have nearly accomplished, having crossed England, France, Russia, Prussia and China for a distance of 10,000 miles in that empire alone, having visited portions of the eastern world never seen by white men, and accomplished a feat unparalleled in the history of foreign travel of two men alone, and both foreigners, traveling over the desert wastes of China, among her wildest and most ferocious inhabitants who never saw a white man nor a wheeled vehicle of any kind; a people whose superstitions and prejudices surpass the wildest ferocity of the American Apache.

Free from all pretensions, thorough students of countries, their people and relations to each other, one can listen to the story of the travels of these two well educated, bright, determined and courageous young men with the deepest interest. They spent the day in visiting Yuma and will start for New York tomorrow on their wheels, averaging fifty-five miles per day. In Asia they made only about forty-five miles per day. In France, over the best roads in the world, they made as high as 100 miles per day. They have been two years and eight months on their journey.

Easily Satisfied.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Deputies De Roulede and Pichon fought a duel with swords this afternoon. The duel was the result of an insult offered by De Roulede to Pichon in the chamber last Saturday, when De Roulede called out to Pichon, "You are Herz's sleeping partner." Pichon, who is a co-laborer with Clemenceau on La Justice, succeeded in scratching De Roulede in the face slightly, while De Roulede wounded Pichon in the ribs. The seconds then declared that honor was satisfied.

The American Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The house session today was dull. The Sunday civil bill was again considered but not disposed of. The senate bill was passed to refer to the court of claims the claim of Jessie Benton Fremont to certain lands in San Francisco. The speaker announced the appointment of the following committee to investigate the Panama scandal: Fellows, Geary, Patterson, Power and Stone.

Death of a California Editor.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 31.—Assemblyman E. B. Price, editor of the Oroville Mercury and assemblyman from Butte county, dropped dead here this morning.

HEAD THEM OFF

A Chance for the Chamber of Commerce.

A Party of New York Excursionists

To Leave for Southern California Via Southern Pacific.

Let a Chamber of Commerce Representative Meet them on the Way and Talk About Phoenix.

One week from tonight an excursion train will leave New York over the Pennsylvania road and will proceed by the Southern Pacific to California. The train will be an exact counterpart of the celebrated Pennsylvania limited between New York and Chicago, vestibuled and provided with observation cars, etc. The excursionists are of a wealthy class of eastern citizens, many of whom are going to Southern California to pass the more disagreeable part of the winter. There will also be several capitalists who are going to Los Angeles and San Diego to ascertain if profitable investments are possible. Aside from these capitalists and possibly the capitalists may be included, the excursionists represent a class to whom real estate or advertising literature is least accessible, for which reason they are likely to know little of Arizona. What they do know is associated with Apaches, Gila monsters, centipedes and that journalistic monstrosity the Arizona kicker, edited and printed in New York. If they knew all about or even a little about the territory in general and about the Salt River valley in particular they would make Phoenix, if not the objective point of their journey at least an important point on their itinerary.

Here is an opportunity for the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce to get in its work and do a maximum amount of advertising at a minimum expense. The train will reach El Paso probably on February 12. A representative should be sent from this city to meet the excursionists at El Paso. He can easily get acquainted and the fruitful theme upon which he will have to talk will make him eloquent. Wonders may be accomplished between El Paso and Maricopa; that excursion train may be lassoed and brought in over the Maricopa & Phoenix railroad. The excursionists coming in on their own train will arrive in the city with a more pleasant impression than the average new comer who makes the trip in one of the regular Maricopa & Phoenix coaches, and they will be fully prepared to enjoy the valley and compare it favorably with the rosy picture presented to them on the way by the chamber of commerce emissary. It is of course not expected that the party will forego the southern California trip, but a lasting and pleasant impression of Phoenix will have been formed and a rich aristocratic class of advertising agents will have been appointed to disseminate good impressions of the territory when they get back east.

This excursion is the first of a series of six that will leave New York and pass Maricopa before May 1. Let the chamber of commerce, which is always vigilant and energetic, lie in wait for them.

Proscribing the Cigarette.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 31.—The house has passed the bill prohibiting the disposing of cigarettes in any way and prohibiting the smoking of cigarettes in any public place.

Concerning the Merry-Go-Round.

Messrs. Evans and Jackson, proprietors of the merry-go-round, are inclined to believe that the council sat down too hard by fixing a license of $1 a day. This belief is shared by a majority of citizens who agree that it is disproportionate to other licenses. Wherever these gentlemen have been they have paid a license, but never before ran against quite so stiff a one. At Tucson they paid $15 for a three month license, one-sixth as much as they are required to pay here; at El Paso they paid $6 for three months, and at Colton, Cal., $3 for the same period. It would seem that in view of the fact that the entertainment is well conducted and the receipts not princely that the council should moderate the license. Concerning the question of closing on Sunday the gentlemen do not care. They have never started the merry-go-round until after the Sunday school sessions and church services for the day had closed, and then only that many parents who could not bring their children on week day might enjoy a late Sunday afternoon recreation.

THE SUNDAY OPENERS

Propose the Terms of a Compromise.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—[Associated Press.]—The house committee on the opening of the world's fair is in session today for the purpose of endeavoring to agree upon a report. The committee is tied on the main question, and the indications are that it will be impossible for the Sunday openers to secure a favorable report. Representative Hook of Ohio is endeavoring to bring about a compromise by which the art gallery and other special features of the fair may be opened on Sundays, but with an entire suspension of machinery as well as of labor on the part of the employees connected with the exhibit. The Sunday closing element, however, will not accept any compromise on the ground that the issue cannot again be got before congress.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

License to marry was yesterday issued to Francisco Moreno and Bernardo Amarillos.

Civil engineers Barry and Beardsley yesterday laid off three more blocks of the Montgomery addition.

The work of taking evidence in the Shott-Walker land contest case will probably be completed today. This case has now been before Referee Knapp for the past week.

Theodore Vertel, a Monroe street baker, was arrested last night by Night Marshal Blankenship for a disturbance of the peace and threatening to depopulate that neighborhood. He resisted furiously and it required two men to finally lodge him in the calaboose.

A. H. Gamage a trustee of south Denver and W. G. Rogers a mining expert of that city who recently arrived in Phoenix will leave shortly for the northern part of the territory. They are making the visit in the interest of the Denver capitalists who wish to invest in agricultural and mineral lands and will and who come to Phoenix within the next thirty days.

Didn't Quite See It.

One of the chief aims of Mr. J. Frank Elwell editor of the Independent has been to visit the Hole-in-the-rock. A week ago last Sabbath in company with a friend he set out for that scenic aperture and got lost. Mr. Elwell and his friend wandered about on the desert until nearly night fall and managed to reach the city. The next day he procured a wagon and again set out for the Hole. He thinks he nearly reached the place and would certainly have quite reached it but the wagon gave out and the trip was abandoned.

THE DYNAMITERS

Growing Insane in English Prisons.

A Released Convict Describes the Terrible Punishment Inflicted Upon Them.

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 31.—[Associated Press.]—Thomas Callan, of Lowell, sentenced in London five years ago to 15 years confinement as an alleged dynamiter, reached here this morning. He has been confined in Chatham and Portland prisons. He says the prison methods are depriving the alleged dynamiters of their reason. They are not allowed to speak and solitary confinement is imposed if the men are ever suspected of whispering. Callan says Dr. Sallagher, of Brooklyn, who was a fellow prisoner in insane, but the official says he is sane. Gallagher according to Callan is in the infirmary most of the time and cannot last long. One of the other dynamiters, Callan says, has become a driving idiot. Sometimes he breaks out in wild laughter and for this is punished by solitary confinement in dark, cold cell, in chains for from two to five days.

TO TRADE WITH MEXICO.

A Delegation for the Purpose of Establishing Commercial Relations.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—[Associated Press.]—A large delegation representing eighty industries and manufacturing concerns of the country, is gathering here for the purpose of starting on a trip to Mexico with the view of developing a field for future markets. This is the main contingent of what an advance guard left several weeks ago in order to pave the way with the commercial elements of Mexico. The members of the present party will meet and confer with the principal merchants of Mexico and exchange views regarding the mutual advantages to be attained by a clear commercial bond between the two countries. The visitors will be handsomely entertained at different points in Mexico and in the capital will be the special guests of President Diaz.

The Canadian Quarantine.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 31.—Representatives of the provincial governments are holding a conference here today concerning questions of quarantine and public health at the instance of the minister of agriculture. The object is to secure unity of action in order that should cholera, or any other epidemic, make its appearance this year all clashing of authority may be avoided by a clear understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the Dominion and provincial governments.

Blaine's Will.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The will of Mr. Blaine will be probated in Augusta, Me. The disposition he makes of his property is characteristic of the confidence he always reposed in his wife and which was such a noticeable feature of the family relation. Everything unreservedly to Mrs. Blaine be the sole executrix and required to give any bond. The will amounts to about $800,000.

California Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31.—The senate committee on corporations this afternoon will arrange for the printing of evidence taken on the re-assessment measure and will discuss what report they shall formulate. It is understood the committee have under consideration a measure which will be substituted for Shanahan's bill and which will not be so radical in its terms.
